The Ty Cobb & Tris Speaker Baseball Betting Scandal Robert Grey Reynolds Jr.

Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker were two talented and revered baseball figures of the early 20th century. When their reputations were called into question by former pitcher Dutch Leonard it was the stuff of nationwide sports headlines in the United States. According to Leonard the two men along with himself and former pitcher-coach Smoky Joe Wood took part in fixing a game toward the end of 1919. The scandal broke in the summer of 1926 some seven years later. Leonard possessed letters that were written to him by his former Tigers' manager Ty Cobb. My book considers many different angles of the case. Was Leonard sore because Cobb sent him back to the Pacific Coast League midway through the 1925 baseball season? Or was it something else that motivated him to make the correspondence public? I have written my e-book utilizing numerous sources, many of them from 1926 and 1927.
